PROFILE

Naomi is a trial lawyer with experience representing individuals and companies at all stages of litigation, from pre-filing negotiations through trial. Her practice encompasses white collar defense, government investigations, antitrust, complex commercial disputes, and the representation of survivors of sexual abuse and trafficking. She has worked on numerous jury trials across multiple jurisdictions.

During law school, Naomi gained firsthand experience in federal litigation through externships and internships with the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of New York and the Federal Trade Commission.
