PROFILE

Amy is a dedicated advocate whose practice encompasses all aspects of family law litigation, including divorce, equitable distribution of assets, spousal and child support determinations and modifications, and child custody and visitation matters. Her practice also includes appellate advocacy.

Amy is devoted to helping her clients navigate family law matters. She works closely with clients to understand their goals and to ensure that they are well informed and engaged in every phase of the case. Amy routinely negotiates successful settlements in family law disputes, prioritizing discretion and privacy while working to resolve matters efficiently and outside of court whenever possible. At the same time, she is a skilled litigator, fully prepared to advocate aggressively for her clients when litigation is necessary.
