Darrick represents clients in high-stakes trial and appellate matters, drawing on his experience in both federal and state government. He has handled complex, high-profile cases in courts across the country, including before the U.S. Supreme Court, the Florida Supreme Court, and numerous federal and state courts.

Before joining the firm, Darrick served as counselor to the Attorney General at the U.S. Department of Justice and as deputy solicitor general in the Florida Attorney General’s Office, where he litigated and advised on some of the most significant matters facing both governments. He began his career clerking for the Hon. Sean Jordan of the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Texas and the Hon. Joel Carson of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit.
